Conquering Kindergarten is tough!

Children need to learn math, reading, and writing skills, as well as social and emotional skills.

The Philadelphia School District knows that social and emotional skills are important. To help our students succeed, we put 14 of these skills on the kindergarten report card. We need your help to make sure all children learn them!

What does "DEMONSTRATES CONSISTENT EFFORT" mean?

When children demonstrate consistent effort, they work through tasks toward a goal. That means handling frustration, staying focused, and not giving up. This is about sticking to a task even if it is hard. This skill teaches children the value of not giving up. It gives children confidence to try new things.

How can I help children learn this skill?

You can teach children to stick with tasks by talking out challenges you are facing. The next time you are struggling with something, talk through it out loud. It's as easy as that. Here's the idea. You might say: "I'm getting so frustrated! Writing the number 8 is tricky. I want to give up, but I am not going to. OK, deep breaths. Now try again." When you try again, maybe mess up a few times and talk through the mistakes: "Hmmm...that's not right. Maybe if I try this...." When you get it right, share how you feel: "I did it! I'm glad I didn't give up."
